

The Democrats of the county met in convention yesterday, nearly all of the 28 precincts being represented by delegates.

Dr. B. W. Stone was elected Chairman and Frank Bell and W. R. Howell Secretaries. Dr. J. D. Clardy was presented to the district as Christian county's choice for State Senator. Messrs. J. E. Stevenson, Alex. Campbell and J. P. Garnett were named for representative and Mr. Garnett nominated on the third ballot.

Prof. S. L. Frogge was nominated by acclamation for superintendent of schools.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing the Chicago platform and Cleveland's administration and expressing confidence in the ability of the Democratic Congress to settle the financial situation satisfactorily to the country.

The Saturday Sun, at Murray, published by J. McMeola and B. B. Weaver, has recently been greatly improved and enlarged to an eight-column paper. The paper is neatly printed and edited with vigor and ability.

With one exception the country papers of Kentucky are standing firm in favor of a bi-metallic currency as advocated by the Democratic platform, in spite of the desperate attempts the Courier-Journal is making to turn Kentucky over to the goldbug idea.

Hill's speech on the silver question Friday was a great effort, but its effect was to some extent marred by an uncalculated attack upon President Cleveland. His financial views are entirely satisfactory to a majority of Democrats, being summed up in the following sentence: "I am a bi-metalist. I do not believe in a single gold standard nor a single silver standard, but I do believe in the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and in their free coinage in our mints at a proper ratio, without any discrimination, in favor of one against the other. And as such bi-metalist, I favor the repeal of the Sherman law because it is un-Democratic, illogical, dangerous and in its tendencies, an impediment to free coinage and a disgrace to the silver cause."

Fetter's Southern Magazine for September contains most attractive and timely reading. The duty of Congress to the silver question is ably presented by the Hon. Rosal Weissinger. "Fields of Gold" are laid at the door of the reader by Elizabeth Holway; and Frank Dickel tells of the thrilling experience of a bank cashier who found himself "ten thousand short." Redd Rowell paints the portrait of "Lieutenant-Colonel Mintsteele" and his antebellum contemporaries with the faithfulness of one "to the manner born." Most notable is the article on "American Architecture—Its Past and Promise," by Ione Estes Dodd, finely illustrated by W. S. Dodd, the well-known architect. C. Gruenwald, Jr., has illustrated the story, "Lieutenant-Colonel Mintsteele" in a manner which promises great things for this young artist in the future. The editorial departments are strong and timely.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Banker S. E. Trice Gives His Views of the Money Question.

What Congress Should Do At Once.

A representative of the KENTUCKIAN had an interview yesterday with Mr. S. E. Trice, President of the Planter's Bank and one of the most thoughtful and experienced financiers in this portion of Kentucky. Mr. Trice is a Democrat and his views are in accord with those of the party platform, but he goes somewhat further and advances some new ideas upon the present situation, that are worthy the attention of the members of Congress. Mr. Trice believes the financial situation could be entirely relieved by legislation embodying the following measures:

First—Repeat the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman act as specifically as possible.

Second—Repeat the ten per cent tax on State bank circulation.

Third—Enact a law authorizing national banks to issue circulation to the full extent of the bonds on deposit to secure same.

Fourth—Enact a law authorizing the free coinage of silver for two years, to be void at the end of that time unless the next subsequent Congress, which would in the meantime be elected, should decide it.

Fifth—Authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to issue three per cent, ten-thirty years bonds to the extent necessary to protect the free silver coinage, so as to keep silver on a parity with gold. The silver to be a universal legal tender. Discussing these measures Mr. Trice continued:

"Do this at once and the finances of the country will respond I promptly in a restoration of confidence and a speedy return to the normal condition of business and a proper adjustment of values. It will also give time for a full discussion of the silver question before a Congress of Nations, which will doubtless be called to consider the question. This would doubtless be acceptable to the silver men as a compromise and conceded by the anti-silverites in a spirit of compromise. The patient is very sick and needs heroic treatment."

The Silver Question.

The great debate in the House on the Wilson bill was closed Saturday by the big guns on both sides and the voting was expected to begin yesterday. It is conceded on all sides the House will pass the bill by a majority of 50 or more. The following summary of the situation appeared in the press reports of Saturday afternoon:

The vote on the Wilson repeal bill will be taken on Monday in the House and the silver purchase clause of the Sherman law, as far as that body is concerned, will be wiped out of existence. The bill will then go to the Senate, where it will be referred to the Finance Committee, which will promptly pigeon-hole it. The Senate will go right straight into talking silver as it has been doing for several days. It will do this for two weeks, and probably longer, before the final vote will be taken. The bill which will be passed will be the Voorhees bill, not the Wilson bill from the House, which will slumber quietly in the room of the Finance Committee.

Then the Voorhees bill will go over to the House. There it will doubtless be acted on with little delay, though there may be another flood of oratory, because as there is some difference between the Senate and House measures the silver men may insist on some talk. If there is a prospect of a contest, however, cloture will be speedily applied and the bill will be passed and will then be ready for the President's signature."

The Voorhees bill only differs from the Wilson bill in making a declaration in favor of bimetalism.

A Fine Performance.

A remarkably good performance of a remarkably good play is promised at the presentation of the New Monte Cristo at the Opera House next Friday night. The dramatic arrangement of this wonderful work of fiction is new, and the cast engaged is of a very superior one. The scenic and mechanical effects are marvels of stage illusions, and are of a very elaborate nature. "The Midnight Alarm at Sea" being one of the most noticeable, a war of the elements being presented with very realistic effect, including a deluge of water and flashes of seeming real lightning.

MOTHER AND SON.

Pink Humphrey and his Mother Killed Near Trenton.

The following full report of a double homicide at Trenton is from a local correspondent. The parties are well known here, having frequently figured in the police courts. They have been away from this city for some months and the news of their fate is the first intimation had of their whereabouts:

A few months since one Milton White rented a cabin from Mr. T. D. Smith, one of our best citizens. The cabin was located in a remote and isolated spot some three miles from Trenton. Mr. White and his household so inclined the way back to this sequestered place and among other sub-renters from White was one Pinkney Humphrey, his mother and his little child about 4 years old. Among the multitude of frequent visitors and indefinite sojourners at the inviting domicile of said White were Will and John Meadows. All these parties were men of no definite or fixed residence, but associated principally over a territory that a fifteen mile radius from Guthrie could cover. Last Thursday night Humphrey concluded to amuse the regular occupants of the White house and the numerous callers by an inside pistol serenade. After cannonading inside the barracks against no certain enemy but against the entire congregation male and female, the latter being a then silent, but now an active factor in the arrangement of the program Humphrey is seemed directed especially against Will and John Meadows. The Meadows brothers came to Trenton, had warrant issued for breach of peace against Humphrey. Humphrey was brought up before Judge Graves Friday and the examination developed nothing further than the imposition of a fine against him of six dollars, part of which was settled by confinement in the Trenton jail and part otherwise, and putting both parties under a peace bond of $100. Saturday evening Humphrey obtained his liberty, and Will Meadows, when he learned Humphrey was out of jail, came to Trenton and advised as to what course to pursue, saying Humphrey was a bad man and had made threats against him which threats he knew Humphrey would try to put into execution. Saturday night Will Meadows left Trenton with one Will Wynn to go to the White-house aforesaid where Mrs. Wynn was. Wynn told Meadows to wait out at a hay stack about 150 yards from the house until he (Wynn) could go and get his wife and then Meadows could go home (back about 1 1/2 miles) with him to avoid a difficulty with Humphrey, who they had ascertained by this time was at the house and in bad humor.

Humphrey learned of Meadows being near the house and went out, the proof was, with many oaths and threats against him, closely followed by his mother and little child. When within fifty yards of where Meadows was standing with a heavily loaded double-barrel breach-loader, Meadows retreated twenty odd steps. Meadows finally pulled down with one barrel and Humphrey's mother fell, the charge having accidentally struck her. The next charge (Humphrey still advancing) dropped Humphrey in his tracks and slightly wounded the child. Meadows went to Trenton and gave himself up and the coroner's jury Sunday morning returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The investigation necessitated by this occurrence opened up to the view of our people here the presence in our community of an element far more degraded and more sin-soaked and more shameless and more indecorously wretched than were ever dreamed of by our most curious citizens.

Why Not Go?

The people here are clamoring for a lower railroad rate to the World's Fair, and finally an opportunity is afforded them to go from this city for $10.75 the round trip. On Sept. 6, as will be seen from advertisement elsewhere in this paper, Mr. W. A. Wilgus, an experienced excursionist, and Traveling Passenger Agent of the "Evansville Route," will run a special train of palace cars to the Windy City without charge. This train will leave Guthrie about 7 o'clock a. m. on the 6th, passing this city at 7:47. Passengers will be taken on all along the line until Madisonville is passed when the train will make no other stops for passengers. Everything will be strictly first-class in every particular and Mr. Wilgus will see to it that the trip will be a most pleasant one to all who may take advantage of this low rate and golden opportunity of seeing the great Fair at a nominal expenditure. Tickets will be good for ten days and parties can return on any regular train. Hotel arrangements will be made on train before reaching Chicago for those who desire good accommodations at reduced rates while in that city. The special train will reach Chicago about 6 o'clock in the afternoon, affording passengers an opportunity of seeing the fine country along the railroad line enroute, and they will land at their hotels before dark. This will be a most pleasant trip and no doubt a large party from this city and county will avail themselves of this low rate and fine service.

The Crop Outlook.

Local showers fell in several sections of North Christian Saturday afternoon, refreshing things considerably. Near Kelly there was a regular "water-spout," but the rain only extended over a small scope of country. There was also some hail in that vicinity, which did considerable damage to tobacco. At Dawson there was a heavy fall of rain for thirty minutes, but that shower did not extend very far south. In parts of Christian there has been no rainfall of consequence for several weeks and crops are suffering very much. There will be a shortage in the corn crop in this section of nearly one half and a large falling off of the tobacco crop. Late tobacco is almost worthless, and some of the earliest planting has fired so much that it will have to be cut at once. Several farmers in North Christian will cut this week, while those in other sections have already commenced the work of sowing the seed on the dry lands. A pretty full crop of plants was set but the drought has proven fatal to much of it. Some of the knowing farmers claim that a crop raised this year, while others make an estimate of three-fourths. There is a great deal of "out come" in tobacco, and if we should have an abundance of rain in the next few days the late planting would be greatly benefited and the low estimate would be materially raised.
